

Change Someone's Life Teach An Adult to Read

Literacy Volunteers

Huntington Beach Library

- We help adults learn to read better.

Call (714) 375-5102

Students must be able to speak English. Our students say the literacy program helps them be better parents, improve their work skills, and have better lives.

- We need tutors.

If you can read and write fluently, you can help an adult to read, write or speak English better. HBPL has tutor training workshops in January, April, July and October. The 15-hour class teaches Literacy Volunteers of America methods for helping adults improve their skills. After taking the class, you are matched with one adult student. You meet two hours a week, morning, afternoon, evening or weekend. The Huntington Beach Library Adult Literacy Services has a collection of teaching materials, a computer lab and space in the library for tutor pairs to meet.

People from all over the world help each other every day at the Huntington Beach Library. Join us!

Literacy Volunteers
Huntington Beach Public Library
7111 Talbert Avenue
Huntington Beach, CA 92648
(714) 375-5102
email: combsa@hbpl.org

